FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Scott Druker Joins Arm & Hammer Animal Nutrition as Senior Business Manager

PRINCETON, N.J. (December 29, 2009)—Church & Dwight Co., Inc.'s Specialty Product Division announced today the addition of Scott Druker as Senior Business Manager of the Animal Nutrition business. He will be responsible for coordinating and overseeing the execution of marketing and business management efforts for Arm & Hammer Animal Nutrition.

“Scott’s strong background in marketing and management practices prepare him to be a great resource for Arm & Hammer Animal Nutrition during this challenging time for dairy producers,” says Curt Siverling, Arm & Hammer Animal Nutrition’s Vice President. “Not only does he have vast experience in marketing and technology, Scott also has a strong knowledge of the Church & Dwight product portfolio. This will enable him to provide dairy producers with the resources they need to increase their bottom line.”

Scott brings to Arm & Hammer Animal Nutrition over 15 years of marketing and technology experience. Most recently he worked with Lonza Corporation where he managed the global biocide and preservatives business. Prior to Lonza, Scott worked at FMC Corporation where he held various positions, including managing the sodium bicarbonate business.

Scott received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Chemistry and his M.B.A. from Drexel University and his Ph.D. in Inorganic Chemistry from the University of Michigan. He will be working out of corporate headquarters in Princeton, N.J., and can be contacted at 609-279-7335 or scott.druker@churchdwright.com.

Arm & Hammer Animal Nutrition, with headquarters in Princeton, N.J., is the North American leader in offering a complete family of innovative, research-proven dairy feed ingredients to improve producer profitability.
